

What to Expect After Your Scan (Gynecologic Oncology)

When will I get my results?

Your care team has ordered a radiology scan. This could be an ultrasound, CT, MRI or a PET scan. This information is important in planning the next steps in your care. Once the scan is complete, the doctors who specialize in reading these scans (radiologists) typically read them within 24-48 hours (1-2 days).

Why wasn't I contacted after my scan?

Sometimes you may find that your doctor and healthcare team have not contacted you before the scan appears in your patient portal. If your scan is performed within 1 week of an upcoming appointment, your results and next steps in care will be discussed at that upcoming appointment. If you do not have a clinic visit coming up, we will try our best to contact you within 4-5 business days of your scan.

We understand that waiting for test results can be stressful and anxiety-provoking. Our team will make every effort to minimize the time between the testing date and when the results are discussed with you.

In the unlikely event that you have not heard from us within 5 business days, please send us a portal message or call our office.

Thank you for your patience and understanding.
