BAPTIST PASTOR ASKS PEOPLE TO WORSHIP HOME AND PRAY FOR SURRENDER

The pastor of the First Baptist church suggests that all Sunday school scholars spend the regular Sunday school hour in the study of their regular Bible lesson and that all members of the church and congregation spend the regular hour for public worship in either private reading of and meditation upon the Bible or, where practicable, in family worship. The 91st Psalm might be read for the devotional psalm and the 4th chapter of Romans, and the entire book of Galatians for study. Let it be a day of quiet meditation and of earnest prayer for our nation, its president and his counsellors, for our boys in camp and across the seas and those upon the seas. Let us pray for a speedy victory and an unconditional surrender. And do not fail to pray for the sick and afflicted in our community.
