

The Center for the History of Medicine

Polio Exhibit

Bibliography

Francis, Jr. Thomas, 1900-1969

Papers, 1917-1975 (bulk 1941-1969)

66 linear ft.

Background: Professor of Epidemiology at the University of Michigan, 1941-1969.

Summary: Personal and professional papers of one of the developers of the influenza and poliomyelitis vaccinations. Francis taught epidemiology at the School of Public Health and medical school from 1941 to 1969 and greatly influenced the direction of research in his field.

Repository: Bentley Historical Library, University of Michigan

Access note: Finding aid in the library