

SAVE THE DATE - 5.29.2019

Chronic Thromboembolic Pulmonary Hypertension (CTEPH): An uncommon common cause of unexplained dyspnea

Complimentary Dinner on Wednesday, May 29, 2019 at 6:30 PM

Novi Chop House | 27000 S. Karevich Drive | Novi, MI 48377

This program is part of a series of outreach meetings for Primary Care, Family Medicine, Cardiologists, Hematologists, Cardiac Surgeons, Pulmonologists and their midlevel providers. You will hear an overview of Chronic Thromboembolic Pulmonary Hypertension as well as a discussion regarding surgical and noninvasive approaches for this disease.

PRESENTED BY:

Vallerie McLaughlin, MD

Kim A. Eagle M.D. Endowed Professor of Cardiovascular Medicine and Professor of Internal Medicine, Pulmonary Hypertension Program, Medical Director

Vikas Aggarwal, MBBS, MPH

Assistant Professor, Cardiology Director of Venous and Pulmonary Vascular Interventional Program

Jonathan Haft, MD

Associate Professor of Surgery, Associate Section Head Clinical Quality

Scott Visovatti, MD, FACC, FCCP

Clinical Assistant Professor
Director, Cardiology Consult Service
Associate Director, Pulmonary Hypertension Program

Bhavinkumar Dalal, MD

Pulmonary Critical Care, Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak

COURSE OBJECTIVES:

Upon completing this course, the participant will be able to:

- Identify patients who would benefit from further evaluation and treatment for Chronic Thromboembolic Pulmonary Hypertension (CTEPH)
- Explain the current treatment paradigm for those patients who have CTEPH
- Determine what tests to order when trying to diagnosis CTEPH in patients who have unexplained dyspnea and exercise tolerance
- Utilize current standards of optimal medical management
- Educate patients on surgical and noninvasive approaches to treating CTEPH

We hope you will join us for this informative discussion. Please RSVP by May 21, 2019 using the following link: michmed.org/cteph or via email to MichiganMedicineOutreach@med.umich.edu. Seating is limited, register today. We look forward to seeing you.