// Volunteering at UMHS has been amazing for innumerable reasons, but what amazes me is our ability to form connections in a short amount of time and with hardly any background information. Most times we barely know each other's names, yet time after time patients have let me into their lives and told me very personal things. Whenever I start to turn to cynicism in regard to the world and all it is, I am, without fail, reminded that our humanity is always there when we look for it.
