Patient Food and Nutrition Services

2017 Infant and Pediatric Specialty Nutrition Conference

November 13 & 14, 2017
Kensington Hotel
Ann Arbor, Michigan
The conference is being conducted by the Pediatric Clinical Nutrition section of the Department of Patient Food and Nutrition Services at Michigan Medicine.

The primary objectives of this conference are:

- To review best patient care practices and recent advances in nutrition therapies in infant and pediatric specialty areas.

- To educate attendees to promote a better understanding of the importance of optimal and timely nutrition therapies on patient outcomes, length of hospital stays, and improved quality of life of a child with both acute and chronic illness.

- To provide the attendees with knowledge to help them make evidenced based clinical decisions for the optimal nutrition benefit of their infant and pediatric patients.

This conference welcomes all

- Registered Dietitians,
- Registered Nurses,
- Physicians, Pharmacists,
- Allied Health Professionals, Educators,
- Dietetic Students, Dietetic Interns, and all other healthcare professionals interested in the nutritional implications of infant and pediatric specialty nutrition.

Evolving, Transforming and Driving the Future of Children’s Medicine

Behind the doors of C.S. Mott Children’s Hospital, teams of people change the lives of children in extraordinary ways. This is where the Leaders and Best come together with advanced technologies and breakthrough treatments. Michigan Medicine has led the way in providing comprehensive, specialized health care for children since 1903. From leading-edge heart surgery that’s performed in the womb to complete emergency care, families travel to the Michigan Medicine C.S. Mott Children’s Hospital for expert pediatric care. Here, our staff of 22 infant and pediatric Registered Dietitian Nutritionists provides highly specialized nutrition services to both inpatients and outpatients.
